LEADERSHIP CAMP COUNSELOR

Leadership Camp is an action-packed, one-week overnight summer camp for entering 6th – 8th grade boys aimed at helping them develop the skills and virtues necessary to be a leader. Every summer, high school students who attend activities at Sauganash volunteer as counselors at the camp. Each counselor is assigned to a team of 10 campers for which he serves as a mentor and coach. Throughout the week, the counselors give their teams virtue talks, help the boys to apply principles of leadership and lessons from virtue talks to concrete situations during the camp, coach their teams in sports and night games, and assist students and teachers in the daily classes. Most importantly, the staff speak individually with each camper to help him grow in self-knowledge and to formulate resolutions for growing in character after the camp.

HIGH SCHOOL & BEYOND

JULY 1 – 7

Entering Freshmen

High School & Beyond helps responsible students make the most of their high school years and maximize their college opportunities through a curriculum of lectures, readings, discussions, strategy games, and team sports. The program challenges students to think critically as well as to establish goals and pursue them energetically. High School & Beyond also emphasizes the need to grow in character at the same time as one develops one's intellectual life. The program promotes the idea that one's high school career should be seen not only as an opportunity to pursue self-development, but also, and more importantly, as an opportunity to learn to put one's talents at the service of others—in short, to become a leader.

MAKING THINGS HAPPEN

JUNE 23 – 30

Entering Sophomores

In every day and age – no less in our own time – there are challenges which both society and individuals face. There is a need for men in every sector of civic life who dedicate their talent, time, and energy in service to those around them. The goal of the Making Things Happen Seminar is to spur young men on in their development of key leadership virtues and skills.

Students will attend a number of presentations by professionals on issues in their fields requiring leadership today and work over the course of the week to develop potential solutions to those problems. The program will include talks and discussions on leadership virtues, and students will have the opportunity to speak one-on-one with a staff member.

MEXICO SERVICE PROJECT

JULY 14 – 29
Entering
Juniors & Seniors
Monterrey (Mexico)

The Mexico Service Project offers high school men the opportunity to live solidarity by serving the poor and less fortunate. Through a demanding (but rewarding) construction project, and daily English and catechism classes given to local students, volunteers will discover the great joy of sacrificing themselves for others. The daily interaction with the locals also provides a unique opportunity to learn more about the Mexican culture. In addition, interested participants may take advantage of spiritual activities such as confession, daily Mass, and regular times for prayer.
